LtCol Samuel Flores, Jr., USMC (Ret)

Thank you for your generous contribution to the MCAA Joe Foss Squadron Scholarship Program. Our squadron headquarters is located in Okinawa, Japan. However, we also have members in Korea, mainland Japan, and the United States. We raise funds for two scholarships--one for Matthew C. Perry High School in Iwakuni, Japan and the other for Kubasaki High School here in Okinawa (both Department of Defense Schools). The scholarships go to the two deserving seniors who best articulate "Joe Foss" like qualities in a written essay. We also host an awards banquet to recognize 1st Marine Aircraft Wing (MAW) nominees to the national level MCAA awards. The competition for the MCAA awards is intense and not all 1st MAW nominees win at the national level. As such, we believe it important that we recognize our nominees at the local level and do so in front of their family, friends, and fellow Marines. Your generous contribution singularly saved our scholarship program this year. Without it, we would have been forced to downsize our awards banquet and program in order to maintain the scholarship program. In essence, PKL's contribution saved both our scholarship and awards recognition programs. We will now be able to recognize deserving students and outstanding Marines. Your generosity will help us accomplish the mission and purposes of the Joe Foss Squadron, which are:

1. To honor all those who served or are serving in Marine Corps Aviation and to perpetuate the spirit of comradeship traditional among those who have served in Marine Corps Aviation.
2. To foster and encourage interest in Marine Corps Aviation.
3. To recognize and reward meritorious and professional achievement in performing the missions and tasks of Marine Corps Aviation.

We will acknowledge PKL's partnership with the Joe Foss Scholarship Program, will publicly recognize your organization, and will include PKL in our Yellow Sheet article this year. We cannot thank you enough. Please pass along our sincere gratitude to all the employees of PKL Services and I hope to thank you in person one day.

Again, thank you for your efforts and support! We are truly grateful!
